

Gate Guardian Project RAF Northolt

To install a Hawker Siddeley 125 (HS125) aircraft as an additional gate guardian next to iconic Spitfire and Hurricane fighters in recognition of the HS125 type's service over the past 44 years...

The aircraft at RAF Northolt - ZD621 – is the only HS125 remaining in existence. It came into service in 1983 and amassed a total of 15,085 flight hours.

ZD621 was used to fly the Queen, Government Ministers & senior military officers after coming into service in April 1971. The aircraft also saw service in a communications role in many military operations, including both Gulf Wars, Afghanistan and Libya.

MML managed the complete project over a two-month period. Work on the monument included design, laying foundations, brickwork, lighting, arrange a commemorative plaque and site supervision...

It was unveiled at a ceremony by outgoing Station Commander, Group Captain Andy Bacon.
